

Get ready to teach your parents a thing or two about saving energy.

You might know how to save energy at home, but do your parents? Show them at GEPlantABulb.com, where you'll find cool videos and tools that can help cut down your family's energy usage. While there, your parents can pledge to make the switch to energy-efficient lighting. And, for every visitor who watches the video at the website, GE will donate a flower bulb to be planted at schools and communities nationwide – maybe even yours!

imagination at work

© 2010 General Electric Company

